

Thinking Like a Programmer

01:37

Welcome

Congratulations! You are taking your first steps toward becoming a Full-Stack Software Developer. You will be learning a lot as you go through the lessons. It will be hard work, but know that you can do it! Follow along and when you get stuck, keep in mind that there are several great public resources available to you like StackOverflow (<https://stackoverflow.com/>), W3Schools (<https://www.w3schools.com/>), or a crowd favorite, Google (<https://www.google.com>). Make sure to create a schedule to keep yourself accountable. Remember, you are learning. It takes time, and as long as you are persistent, nothing can stop you! Time to get started!

"Your first projects aren't the greatest things in the world, and they may have no money value, they may go nowhere, but that is how you learn - you put so much effort into making something right if it is for yourself."

- Steve Wozniak

Next >